"CO-OP" METHODS SELLING CHEESE

Wisconsin Cheese Federation Has Remarkable Successful Policy.

Plymouth—Pioneering for cooperative marketing.

That is just what the Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation has been doing for two years. It practically every section of the state where American cheese is made the Federation's story is told. The Wisconsin College of Agriculture and the State Department of Markets have repeatedly had occasion to refer to it as one of Wisconsin's few shining lights in the field of cooperative endeavor. As a whole, the Federation has done much to stimulate a live interest in the subject of cooperative marketing. Besides being an actual boon to its members in insuring increased financial returns the Federation has been a distinct benefit to all American cheese producers. Theodore Macklin who has studied the Federation is responsible for an average reduction in handling margin of at least a half a cent per pound. On the 1922 production of 235,000,000 pounds, this amounts to $1,175,000 for all American cheese producers in the state. A prominent dairyman and purebred livestock breeder is of the opinion that the Federation could well afford to contribute the proceeds of a decade of its operations to help it put over a merchandising campaign and not have paid back to it what it has meant to them in increased returns.

Brand Products
Only farmers residing in American cheese producing sections are in a position to measure the influence of the Federation in ensuring them just weights and grades. In addition to the above the Federation is deserving of credit for its efforts toward supplying the market with an assured quality product in its Mello Creme and Federation brands. While it cannot lay claim to having put over a big successful drive in merchandising any of its brands, it has made a small start. The Federation has established a precedent in recognizing quality to the producer by paying him a premium on cheese good enough to go into the branded product. Over eleven hundred dollars were paid to factories in 1922 as a premium.

Business of Pool
Briefly summarized, the story of the Federation covers a period of approximately ten years. On March 31st, 1923, it rounded out nine years of actual cheese handling. During that period it has handled for its members 101,158,861 pounds, valued at $22,945,326.07. Its efficiency of management reflected in a return of 97.24 cents out of each dollar received for cheese.

After paying its members as much as they could possibly have obtained from any other source in the community in which they operate, the Federation holds in property or has paid out and holds in a reserve fund an amount equivalent to 1.17 of a cent per pound on all cheese handled. While this amount does not seem large it must be considered that this amount must be added to the competitive effect of the Federation on cheese prices as a whole.

Started in Sheboygan
The Federation started with one warehouse as a single county affair in Sheboygan county in 1914. Its second unit was added in 1919 in the warehouse at Spring Green. Its third unit was the Pine Island, Minnesota, branch, added in 1921. During 1922 for new warehouses were added as follows: February, Wausau; July, Green Bay; August, New Richmond; and October, Cumberland.

The first year the Federation operated 5,125,480 pounds of cheese were handled at a value of $857,501.00. In 1922 the banner year 18,872,496 pounds of cheese worth $3,764,851.00 were handled. The present membership consists of about two hundred factories in twenty-seven different counties. Of this number one hundred seventy-five are now shipping.

Own Warehouse
The Central organization or the subsidiary company organized under it, the Wisconsin Dairymen's Storage company, owns the warehouse at Plymouth and Wausau. Those at Spring Green, Pine Island, New Richmond, and Cumberland are owned by a local corporation, the Federation leasing the building and paying rent for same. Farmers who own stock are paid at the rate of six per cent. The Federation pays the operating expenses. In this way each farmer who invests in the Federation receives a fair rate of interest on his investment, besides assisting in providing suitable quarters for the handling of his cheese.

Under the Federation's plan of operation cheese is assembled from a group of factories at each warehouse point. It is weighed and paraffined and held subject to orders for shipment from the central office located at Plymouth. All sales outside of a few small lots are made from the central office. Remittances to the factories are also made through the central office.

During 1922 the Federation sold cheese to 41 states and to Mexico. Sales are made either direct to wholesale grocers and jobbers or through the medium of brokers. In order to better enable it to keep in touch with its members and keep them informed on what is going on, the Federation publishes a monthly paper. Plans for the future contemplate new warehouses in each important cheese producing center. To render greatest service to its members and to the cheese industry as a whole the Federation must speed the day when it can handle the bulk of Wisconsin's American cheese. This will make possible to carry out to desired extent its program of standardization of the quality and stabilization of price. Handling the bulk of the cheese will make it both possible and practicable to carry out a campaign of advertising and education to increase the consumption of cheese. The Board of Directors have already taken steps to engage the services of a man to put in a merchandising program.

Has Same Growth
There has been nothing meteoric in the history of the Federation. Its growth has been slow yet substantial. The management has carefully felt its way and has made progress in spite of adverse conditions and the most bitter opposition.

The farmers of the state are a determining factor in the growth. As soon as the majority of them are ready to accept and adopt its program just so soon will it be in a position where it can literally add millions of dollars to the annual income of the dairy farmers of the state.

CLERK UP STUMP ON GETTING VOTES FROM QUARANTINE

Four electors who want to vote in the election of next Tuesday are going to be unable to do so despite efforts of City Clerk E. J. Sartell to arrange it for them. The four are tied up in a house of quarantine for diphtheria. And while the law permits votes by mail from people unable to visit the polls due to illness, it makes no provision for having quarantine cases.

"I'd take a chance on it if it were measles or some other mild disease," said the city clerk, "but diphtheria—well, I've a wife and baby, not to mention a dog, and I don't think I should take any chances by going to this house so the people may vote."

The health officer or attending physician could go into the house but neither is a notary public so ballots in that case would not be legal. Besides, they are prohibited from taking anything out of the house.

"I have sought advice from City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham and he has advised these four people will be 'out of luck' for voting this spring."

Milton Glee Club

on Tour Without

Director Stringer

Milton—The Milton College Glee club left Tuesday afternoon for Deloil on the first lap of its annual spring tour. Fred L. Stringer, director, was unable to accompany the club owing to the serious illness of his small son, who is in a Madison hospital. The club will spend several days in Wisconsin, visiting Milton alumni and friends. Later concerts will be given in White Cloud and Battle Creek, Mich. The club will appear several times before the Milton college seniors, who are visiting through central and southern Illinois has been cancelled.

Milton college closed Tuesday afternoon for the annual Easter recess of one week. Classes will reopen Wednesday morning, April 4.

Union high school, which did not open Monday morning because of illness among the pupils and teachers, will remain closed two weeks in all. Principal R. A. Duell and Assistant Principal Anna J. Plumb are among the sick. Arthur and Elmer Hills, college seniors, have been teaching Mr. Duell's history and civics classes.

Last year's graduating class has presented Milton college with a moving picture machine of the type purchased by Janesville and Union high schools.

Given in the college gymnasium Monday night by the girls of Goodrich hall. Proceeds will be used to refurbish the hall's reception room.

How many thousands will be unable to get ARCOLA this year?

IN 1921, 5,000 families who wanted ARCOLA had to go without.

This year three times as many homes are being built as in 1921. Yet because our factories are already over-taxed with orders for larger Ideal Boilers, we can make no more ARCOLAS in 1923 than we made in 1921.

This means just one thing—if you wait until next fall you will be cold next winter.

ARCOLA is our hot-water (or steam) heating plant for small homes—different from any other. It is connected with a genuine American Radiator in each room. That means warm bedrooms; breakfast in a warm dining room; protection for the children from colds and gripe; plenty of hot water for washing and bathing.

Please telephone your Heating Contractor for an estimate today. The installation can be made without disturbing the family; and in three average winters ARCOLA will pay back a large share of its cost in the fuel it saves.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Women Wanted

Quick cooking—here it is Countless women have asked for an oat dish that cooks quickly. Now our experts have perfected it. Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world.

Now your grocer has Quick Quaker as well as the regular.

Just smaller, thinner flakes

No change whatever in quality or flavor.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

In both you get that matchless flavor which has won the world to Quaker.

Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Pandora Nicholson is so painfully shy that when she meets new people she can think of nothing to say but "hello," and never knows what to do with her hands or feet. She lives as a poor relation with her Aunt Maude, her uncle and their very popular daughter, Gladys—all of whom tell her frequently that she is hopelessly stupid and queer. She has only one friend, Morrow, who like herself, whom she loves devotedly. Gladys, who has everything suddenly married Morrow. Pan lances herself heartbroken.

She goes to New York to live with Gloria Gates, a brilliant erratic woman, whose little son, Frankie, is a child prodigy and their very popular daughter, Gladys—all of whom tell her frequently that she is hopelessly stupid and queer. She has only one friend, Morrow, who like herself, whom she loves devotedly. Gladys, who has everything suddenly married Morrow. Pan lances herself heartbroken.

TWO WOMEN

Chapter 101

Gloria appeared next morning looking like quite another person in a shabby out-of-date tweed suit and shoes, wool stockings and her skirt half hidden under a woolen coat. She was looking ready for the woods—an amazing contrast to the slim figure with the fashionable droop of the shoulders, and the exquisite, gorgeous colored gown.

"You look like just anybody," George greeted her.

Then afraid that what he had said, was not polite, when both women laughed at him, he added:

"I mean you look like a young opera star, a movie queen (a gasp from Gloria), a millionaire and a cover for a Paterson magazine."

"But never the single minded motherly creature I really am," put in Gloria. "Frankie, if you go on eating breakfast all the morning, you can run it straight into lunch."

"Um-hum," agreed Frankie complacently over a jam laden muffin. "I'm getting fat."

"You're gaining your heat, at least. Children all are to tramp through these heavenly woods this morning."

Gloria turned her head slightly, cushioned on her son's cap and her hands, to smile at her young friend.

"You weren't really ignorant—and yet you were of course, poor darling. Where you could gain education from the schools and books you had done so and had digested your knowledge very well. You learned volumes from such small experiences as 'come you'—"

"Morrow?" asked Pan smiling and casual.

"Yes, that hurt, and made you blither and cynical in many ways, but it helped you eventually—I mean when you got away from it. Had you stayed on, brooding over a lost love, of course it would have been mental and spiritual death. I've seen them too—the women who've never survived one early disappointment."

"Instead of which it has shown me what real love is—my love for George," said Pan softly.

Gloria turned again. "Ah, I'm glad to hear you say that!" she said.

LATEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago Review. In the price of wheat took place today during the early dealings, the chief factor being an advance in Liverpool quotations. The market was quiet and was ascribed in part to smallness of the stock of wheat there. Bullish crop reports from western Kansas and western Nebraska, tended also to lift values. The opening, which ranged from 11.10 to 11.15, with May 11.10 to 11.15, was followed by something of a reaction and then by a recovery. Corn and oats were firmer in sympathy with wheat. After opening unchanged at 11.15, the market advanced to 11.20, and later to 11.25. The corn market held near to the initial range.

In the later dealings, the market showed lack of support, especially after wheat became somewhat weak. Corn closed heavy at 11.25 to 11.30. Oats were unchanged at 11.15. May 11.15 to 11.20, and later to 11.25. The corn market held near to the initial range.

Decline in the value of hogs weakened provisions. The approach of holidays appeared to be curtailing business and the market turned weaker in sympathy with the grain market. Pork closed heavy at 11.25 to 11.30. Lard was unchanged at 11.15. May 11.15 to 11.20, and later to 11.25. The corn market held near to the initial range.

ONCE HUSBAND'S ASSISTANT NOW SHE'S HIS CHIEF

Mrs. C. E. Hearin of Clay, Ky., is one of the few women in the United States to be vice-president of a bank. When her husband, who is cashier of the bank, organized it some fifteen years ago, Mrs. Hearin became his assistant "just for pastime." For ten years she was assistant cashier and now she is first vice-president of the bank, holding an office higher than her husband's.

2-COUNTY WOMEN'S WORKER PROPOSED

Y. W. Secretary Surveys Rock and Walworth Counties on Plan.

The visit of Miss Frances Stuenkel, Y. W. C. A. rural communities secretary, to Walworth and Rock counties the past week may result in the formation of a district organization in which six or more communities will unite in the support of a trained worker. This plan has been operated successfully in different parts of the country and women leaders in southern Wisconsin are impressed with its possibilities for a constructive program at minimum cost. The specific type of work undertaken is determined by the needs of each community as revealed through a survey made by a local committee. The Y. W. C. A. offers an elastic program based on a definite set of standards and having as its objective the attainment of the best in life for girlhood and womanhood.

The Girl Reserve work, embracing girls between 12 and 18 years, is a part of the program that practically every community needs and wants. The work for older girls and women varies materially in different places. The non-fee membership plan, under which the Janesville Y. W. C. A. was organized and which is being adopted at this time by the Beloit association, prevails in all smaller communities.

Club Promoting Movement
In a district organization the work to be done in the different communities by the secretary is agreed upon by a board of directors, which also apportions the budget. The plan now under consideration does not contemplate the type of rural work being done in both Walworth and Rock counties by the Y. W. C. A. To organize the Y. W. C. A. along similar lines would require a worker in each county and a budget large enough to provide for auto transportation.

The rural women's clubs of Rock county are now promoting a movement to secure a home demonstration agent, and while the work of this agent would not duplicate that which might be done by a county Y. W. C. A. worker, there are many who feel that the former will fill the greater need as far as the women and girls in the farm homes are concerned, and that it is better to concentrate on one thing at a time.

Y. W. Will Co-operate
On the other hand, it seems quite feasible to offer the smaller cities and villages of Rock and Walworth counties an opportunity to unite in a district Y. W. C. A. movement. Miss Stuenkel came in response to several requests, to look over the field, hold personal and group conferences, and inaugurate community surveys wherever the local women are sufficiently interested to undertake this preliminary task, which she explains does not commit them to the organization project. The national Y. W. C. A. she states, is willing to co-operate in the development of a district organization, if there is a genuine desire on the part of several communities for it.

If the local surveys are completed and sufficient interest is manifested by community leaders to warrant further steps, Miss Stuenkel will return within a few weeks for a series of community conferences, when action may be taken.

The Gazette community editor will be glad to furnish additional information to any community interested and to render all possible assistance in the development of this movement which promises much for the well being of girls and women.

MILLION DOLLAR SCHOOL DEDICATED

1,400 Pack Auditorium for Exercises Marking Job's Completion.

Janesville dedicated its new million dollar high school, Tuesday night. Fourteen hundred people, filling the immense auditorium, heard the various talks by city officials, school heads, representative citizens, and out-of-town educators, and greeted them all with loud applause.

Speakers were: Jesse Earle, president of the board of education; Mrs. Sadie Carman and Mrs. Cora Dickinson, representing the W. R. C. of the C. A. R.; Mayor Thomas E. Welsh; Stephen Boles, editor, Janesville Gazette; Francis Grant, chairman of the new high school building committee; the school board; Fritz W. Brown, Supt. P. O. Holt; Prof. Thomas Lloyd Jones of the University of Wisconsin; John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction; and Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, Waukesha.

In addition, music was given by the combined high school bands, led by Ralph C. Jack.

Flag Given School.

While the program was to start at eight o'clock, the building was being inspected by hundreds of people before that time. It has been open the past three days, including Monday night, for inspection and thousands have seen how the tax money was expended. By 7:30, the auditorium began to fill up, and when the program started there were but few empty seats, even in the balcony.

Bands were greeted enthusiastically and played a number of encores. They show great improvement every time they are heard. Mrs. Cora Dickinson opened the program by presenting a beautiful flag to the school on behalf of the Women's Relief Corps. She spoke of the beauty of the flag, being applauded when she spoke of it as the most beautiful national flag in the world, and told how the ideals of America that have made it the world's greatest nation, should be inculcated into every school child. She spoke of the value of the new school. Mrs. Sadie Carman also said a few words, and the flag was accepted by President Jesse Earle for the school. The bands played "America."

Jean Sutherland Wins Prize

Following short talks by Mayor Welsh, telling of the history of the school of education, and by Mrs. Earle, telling of the idealism of the schools and their position as a world force, Fritz W. Brown told the citizens how the building is finished, the final cost being $1,400,000. He said the school itself, it may be possible to have a wonderful building, yet not a real school, he said, and to have a wonderful school without a new building. For Mr. Earle, who offered a prize of $10 for the best essay written on the subject "What the new high school means to the city of Janesville," Mr. Brown announced that this gold piece will go to Miss Jean Sutherland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Sutherland, Washington street, a sophomore. Honorable mention included the names of Miss Edna, Virginia Elmer and Kay Peterson.

School Board Praised

Mr. Grant spoke of the good fortune to live in this section, county and city, and to have the new school children; Sup. Holt publicly thanked the board of education and praised it, also speaking of the opportunity the citizens without which nothing could have been accomplished; Prof. Jones said that this is "the best school within the boundary of the state," and spoke of the resources the state has in its young men and women; Mr. Callahan thanked the city for the example it has set in erecting such a structure. He told of the work yet to be done by education.

Judge Charles L. Fitch, on behalf of the Rotary club, presented Supt. P. O. Holt with a large bouquet of cut flowers. Mr. Holt responded, expressing the hope that he can live up to the Rotary motto to "He profits most who serves best."

Ganfield in Main Address

The main address of the occasion, given by Dr. Ganfield, expressed the idea that mind was the supreme heritage of man, and that especially in the white races has this heritage been developed.

"Six great white races, out of the ten that existed," he said, "have disappeared, and are now scarcely thought of, even in history. Can you wonder, then, that the white race can become supreme and remain so? Are we headed for the same oblivion that now envelops six white races?"

Dr. Ganfield said the institutions that make America the leading country of the world, its educational and religious and idealistic institutions, are greater than humans and must be kept from the school, so goes America," he said, "and as goes America, so goes the world. Hollywood has power, yes, but the school has power in moulding public opinion, yes, but the school children gathering every morning in the classroom, have much more; and what they signify have power, but not that of the schools."

MANY OLD COURT CASES DISMISSED

Green Case and 25 Others Dropped in Calendar Clean-up.

A clean-up of criminal cases pending in the Rock county municipal court a year or more has been effected the past few days by Judge J. L. Maxwell, with the dismissal of charges upon recommendation of District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie. A large number of the cases so disposed of are those for non-support where the defendants have fulfilled their promises to contribute to the support of the families, while in several cases of other kinds, the defendants have left the city, or the district attorney felt there was a lack of evidence to continue prosecution.

It was the desire to clean up the calendar rather than have a host of old cases that never would be brought to trial. While a number of year-old actions remain on the books, these are cases due to be tried in the near future.

Elmer Green Case Dropped.

Of general public interest among the cases just dismissed, is that for embezzlement against Elmer A. Green. Green was at one time prominent as a securities salesman here and it was in connection with one of his alleged sales to A. D. Foster that he was arrested, May 11, 1921. Embezzlement of $30 was charged. The case was adjourned several times and Green is now in the city.

Another one dropped this month was that against Thomas Reed, charged with having attacked a minor girl near the state school for the blind, in September, 1921.

Slot-Machine Case Ends.

Barbara McKinney, arrested last summer by C. W. Seidmore, who was then motorcycle patrolman, charged with her case dismissed. She was charged with allowing a slot-machine to be operated in her establishment on the Janesville-Beloit highway, known as "Little Bohemia."

Two liquor cases against John Heffling, who lived near South Janesville, have been dismissed and he has left the county; it is understood. Murphy, Dan Murphy and Charles Murphy, arrested at Footville, Oct. 19, 1922, will not have to appear in court to face charges of having been drunk and disorderly, while the case against Fred Wagner, charged with robbing a horse, has also been wiped from the records.

Many Non-Support Cases.

Among the many non-support cases dismissed are those against: Donald Hitz, W. B. Earlewinna, Edward Shuman, Luc Gorman, Myron Bobb, Bernard Brady, Glenn Dewey, Clyde Smith and Henry Ewald.

Charged with driving their cars without licenses, Clarence Morrell and G. C. Van Worman have had their cases dismissed, while Charles Bunn is freed of having to face a charge of pointing a revolver at Ed. Freese.

Other cases dropped are:

Great Offer to Readers

Following the greatest period of physical desolation and mental unrest ever known—the world has turned for succor to its unfailing source of comfort. It is trying to forget the ruthless realities of life in the solace of spiritual promise. No matter what may be one's creed or station in life, the Bible answers every need and gives courage to all who read it.

Teaching this, an announcement is being made in other columns of this issue of a remarkable offer by this paper to its readers. Only through cooperation with hundreds of newspapers in this country and Canada has it been made possible to share in this wonderful distribution of the famous Big Print Red Letter Edition of the Bible, bound in limp leather and containing many pages of help and halftones reproduced from photographs.

Among many others is a very special feature, that of printing in red all the sayings of Christ, so that one in search of the Master's own words can find them at a glance, and quotations from His teachings can be easily located.

The usual price asked for Bibles of such rare bookmaking is from three to four dollars, so that this is a real opportunity to acquire an exquisite copy of the Book of Books by simply clipping a few coupons and adding a nominal distribution charge. How this can be done is explained in the announcement. Emphasis is laid on the fact that the publisher's allotment to this paper cannot be increased, and it is sincerely hoped that it is large enough to supply all coupon holders.

There are two distinct styles in this offer. Style A, which is the one briefly described, and Style B, which is an all Bible text medium print. This latter is a regular edition for those who do not feel that they can take advantage of the more elaborate volume. —Advertisement.

At the east end of the building are huge piles of tough steel, angle bars, a battery of punch presses, drills, and a line of small cranes and hoists. The frame and axle assembly line. As the bars pass along the lines, skilled riveters hammer in the rivets needed to make up the frame of the chassis.

Further down the side is the motor assembly line where a motor and men add the small parts to the motor carried along on the line until the testing block is reached near the head of the endless chain conveyor line. On the testing block goes the motor to be started, inspected and passed upon by an expert. Passing the test the motor is hoisted overhead and a crane drops it down on the frame and axle moving on the long conveyor.

Final Body Assembly

Further down is the final assembly for the car bodies. A battery of workmen takes the partly finished bodies, which are dropped from trucks to put on the gas tanks, brackets, fenders, dash-board instruments. Every operation is in proper sequence and the body moves along one line the upholstery work is completed, and passed down on the line until it is inspected.

In the front part of the building there are a number of girls employed in the trim department, cutting and sewing the upholstery cloth and leather. From the second floor of the office section a car is hoisted and carried on an endless belt to the factory to the final body assembly department.

On the north side of the building is the paint department. The open factory area is great piles of parts that go to make up the touring car and runabout models. As the body is built up it is taken to the enclosed paint room.

There is a novel system of ventilation for these paint or "flow" rooms all air forced into the room going through a spray of water. This is to prevent any dust or foreign particles lodging on the car bodies during the painting processes. Also it might interest legislators voting on the proposed anti-spray law to know that the cleanest place in the entire Chevrolet plant is the paint department and so efficient is the work, practically no paint smell is noticeable.

Paint Flowed On

Instead of being sprayed on, the paint is "flowed" on with a hose, the operator running the stream of paint along the top of the body at a slow speed so that it flows down the body evenly and without a blemish. The first coat after building and buffing down is the "rubber-coat." The car is sent along the conveyor line into the bake ovens in the center of the building. Here a high temperature bakes the paint on. The body is carried down to the south side of the building and the second coat applied after the buffing. Operators of the "flow" stream work under a powerful mercury light that enables them to detect any flaws.

A second conveyor takes the body back through the ovens to the north side and the process is repeated until a number of coats have been applied and the body is ready for the final buffing, polishing and final coat of glazing paint and the last oven treatment to bake on the enamel and paint.

From the paint departments the bodies go over to final-body assembly to be finished by this corps of workmen.

In another department fenders are made up and painted to be carried to the final assembly line down the center of the building.

Sub-Assembly Work

Nor is that all. Here and there in other parts of the factory are parts where mechanics and men make up the different small parts. Here is one where an operator drops on a rim, fits a tire, puts his foot on a lever and in a twinkling the tire is ready to go to the wheel department. Near the main assembly line is a huge rotating assembly bench where the tires and wheels are made up in a single operation, ready for the line operators.

At another bench the bearing parts are made up, each workman and each department having a specific work to do to keep up the endless stream of parts to keep the main assembly-line going at the desired speed. All sub-assembly departments are interconnected and the failure of any one unit, reflects upon the final assembly work. Consequently that is why efficient organization and clock-work production is so necessary.

All sub-assembly work concentrates at the main endless chain conveyors running down the center of the building.

As the frame and axle are hoisted over and dropped on the conveyor there is action. The car never stops on this conveyor line. On both sides are workmen with one or more specified tasks to do during the time the car is before their station.

The frame and axle in place on the line, the motor is lifted by an electric crane from the testing block and dropped in place. There is the whirl of the pneumatic tools, electric drills, special wrenches as the parts are placed on. Piles of small parts are near the conveyor line so that by simply reaching back the workman obtains the part and in a second or two has it securely in place as the partly made car moves down the line.

The most modern tools and speed devices are used to assure accurate and good work and saving of time.

Endless Stream of Cars

As the chassis moves down the line it begins to assume the appearance of a finished car.

At one place the fenders are bolted on, the battery dropped in place. Near the center of the line there is a spray booth where upon the partly finished car a complete coat of protecting paint. The next move is through the bake oven.

Thoroughly dry after the trip through the oven, the chassis comes out to where a gang of men are waiting with the body resting in the padded frame of an electric crane. The body is dropped in place and half a dozen men have it bolted on in a few seconds and as it passes on down the line, on go the tires, other fenders, radiator and accessories until 60 feet further on and the car is poured in and a complete Chevrolet car runs off on its own power to the testing room where every part accessible is re-inspected.

From the time the frame and axle were dropped down on the moving conveyor it was but 2.3 minutes until the finished car was run off the line. Each sub-assembly has its corps of inspectors watching for any improper work and along the main line, inspectors check every operation and when the car is run off the line on its own power another set of inspectors test before the final tag is placed.

There is a marked interest in the assembly workers in their production work, both as to speed and quality. Everyone is skilled in his particular task, alert and quick, for there is no stopping and no interfering with the work. The line is a slip here or a break there means a delay, and a delay means a handicap to every operator. Consequently they are all braced to make the assembly lines move without a hitch or fault. "We'll be turning out cars here in 1.5 minutes," is the statement.

As at the present time but one of the two main assembly lines is in operation.

Add to Dealers

The establishing of the Chevrolet assembly plant in Janesville, it is declared by officials, will mean much to the city. It will mean a wider distribution and it has been declared that the automobiles produced in the Janesville plant have quality that ranks among the best of the Chevrolet units.

Having the parts distribution station here means overnight service to most of the northwestern dealers, according to the officials here. Good freight service is possible out of Janesville and unexcelled truck line highways in and out of the city are available for the "drive-in." Considerable cars have been, and will be, delivered overland and the good roads in and near Rock county are a decided asset.

Janesville has become the leading city of Wisconsin in auto production and the development has just started.

There are approximately 850 people working in the Chevrolet plant this week, it was announced, Wednesday. There are 50 working in the plant body-company unit and this number will be rapidly increased as production and assembly work is increased in the immediate future.

There is certain to be another boom in the number working in the Chevrolet plant when the second conveyor assembly line is put in operation to jump the production schedule to around the 300 cars-a-day mark.

When the Fisher plant reaches maximum production and unit assembly work here, it is predicted that at least 200 men will be employed.

The Chevrolet company took over the G. M. C. buildings used by the Samson Tractor company on November 1, 1922 and put through a rapid program of construction and expansion.

The second issue of the Y's Owl, bi-monthly publication of the Y. W. C. A., is being distributed to members and friends of the Association. It is a breezy little news sheet, published to disseminate information about the aims and activities of the organization. Miss Marie Crow is editor-in-chief.

New members, who have signed up since February 1, are announced in the Y's Owl as follows: Misses Wladia Bouziane, Elita M. Capelle, Ruth Link, Olive Lathrop, Margaret Little, Grace Loomer, McManam, Harriet Suenger, Dorothy Stephenson, Esther Stoll, Emma Tol, Mesdames John Anthes, Lena, Mrs. A. G. Lough, Barbara Kendrick, J. C. Keller, A. E. Matheson, J. G. Jaxford, Martha Smith, M. H. Springburn, George St. Clair, Eva Thompson, H. Vander Walker, Mary Vance.

Y's Owl make the following: The comment on the resignation of Miss Margaret Doane:

"Through the resignation of Miss Margaret Doane, community girls' work secretary, the Janesville Y. W. C. A. has sustained a distinct loss. It was only with greatest reluctance that the resignation was accepted by the board of directors. Miss Doane has given up her work in Janesville because of the illness of her mother, feeling that she preferred to be at her home in Rock Springs, Wyoming, or near there.

"Miss Doane has proved herself particularly competent in directing the activities and girls of the city, as provided for by the Lovejoy Memorial Trust, under which she has been employed. Efforts are being made by the Board of Directors to secure a successor to carry out the program outlined for the current year, which includes the summer camp. It is expected that it will take considerable time to locate anyone at this season of the year, so that no definite announcement can be made at present.

"Miss Helen King has been secured as temporary director."

NATIONS QUESTION
GERMAN SECURITY
FOR FOREIGN LOAN
REPARATIONS BODY IN
NOTE TO BERLIN ON SUBJECT.
ST AND MODIFIED
French Recede Somewhat from Opposition to Financial Move of Germany.

Paris.—While various interpretations may be put in the note the reparations commission is sending to Germany in connection with her foreign currency loan issue, the correct one, according to some of the best informed circles, is that it holds in substance that there is no question of the German government's right to offer the loan, but that there does exist a question as to the security it may give.

The text of the note, prepared by Sir John Bradbury of England, and Mr. Delavigne of Belgium, calls attention to the fact that the treaty of Versailles, defining prior rights in reparations and continuing:

Right of Priority
"The commission, in express reserve, as against subscribers to the loan, of its right of priority against any funds which may be assigned by the German government to the payment of capital to the loan in question, more particularly if the receipt itself is not applied to the discharge of reparations annuities."

It is affirmed that the original intention of the French was to prevent the launching of the loan with a guarantee by the Reichsbank, but now that the loan is said to be but 40 percent subscribed, the original French position has been temporarily modified.

See Sui Generis Changes
As to the effect the note will have, it is contended that the whole reparations problem has been put in the melting pot by the presence of France and Belgium in the Ruhr and that when eventual settlement comes such sweeping changes may be made that the present note may be lost sight of in the general arrangement.

In any case, the British position of "benevolent neutrality" towards the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr was in no manner altered, it is declared by the discussion.

Three Normals in Debate; Superior
at Whitewater

Whitewater.—A debate, to decide the state championship of Wisconsin normal schools is being held Wednesday in Oshkosh. Superior and Whitewater, the three winning schools in the preliminary inter-normal contest of March 2. Whitewater's affirmative team, which debated here, went to Oshkosh Tuesday night, accompanied by Miss Lucy Thayer, and Prof. W. Fischer, members of the faculty, as chaperones. The affirmative team includes Herman Gernsheim, Misses Elizabeth Watson and Geo. Kivlin and Martin Wassner, winners of a two to one decision here March 2. The Whitewater negative team, which won a unanimous decision in Platteville, debated the affirmative team from Superior normal in the local gymnasium at 8 p. m. Dr. W. A. Gandfield, president of Carroll college, Wausau, presiding. The following are the local negative debaters: Royal Everitt, Miss Modesta Elmer and Lyle Bryant, with Miss Margaret Olson, alternate and timekeeper. Superior normal's affirmative team, which arrived Tuesday night, includes Thomas Harvey, Bernhardt Ranford and Walter Lundgren, who will close the debate here. Mr. Lundgren won second place in the recent inter-normal oratorical contest held in Milwaukee. S. J. French, Superior's coach, will be a timekeeper. The judges here will be Prof. Springer of Carroll college, Thomas Lloyd Jones of the university, and A. C. Shong, principal of West Division high school, Milwaukee. The question is, discussed, "That a bill embodying the essential features of the Huber unemployment insurance bill, should be passed by the Wisconsin legislature in 1922." The Whitewater normal coach is Prof. J. R. Cotton.

STATE AUTOMOBILE
OUT BY SENATORS

The payment of taxes were killed without record votes.
The Huber senate joint resolution, proposing an initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution, was concurred in by the assembly, 53 to 29. Under the constitution, the resolution will have to be approved by another legislature before it can be submitted to a vote of the people.

The proposed amendment would give the people power to propose laws and to enact or reject them at the polls and further to approve or reject at the polls any act of the legislature. It would also provide for submission of amendments to the constitution on petition of the people.

Vote on Home Rule
The people of Wisconsin will now have the opportunity of voting on a home rule amendment to their constitution. When the assembly concurred in the Huber senate resolution Wednesday, the proposition completed a successful course through two legislatures, as required by the constitution, before submission to the people. The vote on concurrence was 67 to 14, and was taken without debate.

The proposed amendment would delegate to cities and villages the power to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to the constitution and enactments of the legislature.
